Receive 'Pay' for Aiding Army Show

Belmont City Hall Fund Short of Bid

Belmont's plans for a new city hall received another setback Monday when the Belmont City Council, after opening bids on the building, discovered that the city didn't have enough money to pay for construction.

The council found that the city was $12,000 short of the lowest bid, so the members postponed the awarding of the bid until their June meeting in order to give themselves time to look around for additional funds.

More than a year ago Belmont voters passed a $50,000 bond issue for the proposed city hall. Since that time, funds have been spent to improve the proposed site which adjoins the Belmont fire station, and to pay architect's fees, leaving $36,620 left of the original $50,000.

The low bid, turned in by the Huber Construction Co., was $43,519. Architect Arthur Janssen, however, estimated that including insurance and other costs, the total cost of the building would be $48,235.

"We can't award a bid until we have money to pay for it," commented Mayor James F. Furlong Jr.

Furlong pointed out that it still may be possible to work something out within the 30-day period in which the council is allowed to decide on the acceptance of the bid.

The Belmont council at the meeting last month had called for bids on the city hall even though it had been denied permission to construct the building by the Civilian Production Authority. The CPA reversed its decision a week later.

The proposed city quarters are to include city offices, a council chamber, and a library and is to replace the present rented building on El Camino Real near Ralston Ave.

Last Monday the council also:

Appointed Councilmen Harry Walden and Earl Miller as a committee to investigate the possibility of drawing up setback lines on the Alameda de las Pulgas.

Heard a report that the police department had collected $1843 in fines during May.

SC Group Hears Mayo Offer

Mrs. Ahlma Evans, president of the San Carlos Community Theater, said Thursday during a meeting of the group at the city hall that she had tried unsuccessfully all year to get the San Carlos Recreation Commission to meet with her board so that "we could find out if we pleased or displeased it."

The recreation commission is the sponsor for the 200-member theater group, Mrs. Evans said.

She had invited the recreation commission members to a board meeting at her home this week, Mrs. Evans said, and the commissioners had accepted — but none appeared.

S. S. Mayo of Sequoia High School was present, and described the Sequoia auditorium and little theater facilities which would be available to the San Carlos theater group. Mrs. Evans said she had investigated this offer, because she feared there would be no such meeting place available in San Carlos.

A nominating committee was appointed, headed by George Greenleaf.

Gloria Clark, the Little Theater's candidate for Fourth of July queen, was introduced and played several accordion selections.

He stated also that every poppy was made by a disabled veteran and that $15,000 of the total sum will be given to them for the time and effort spent.

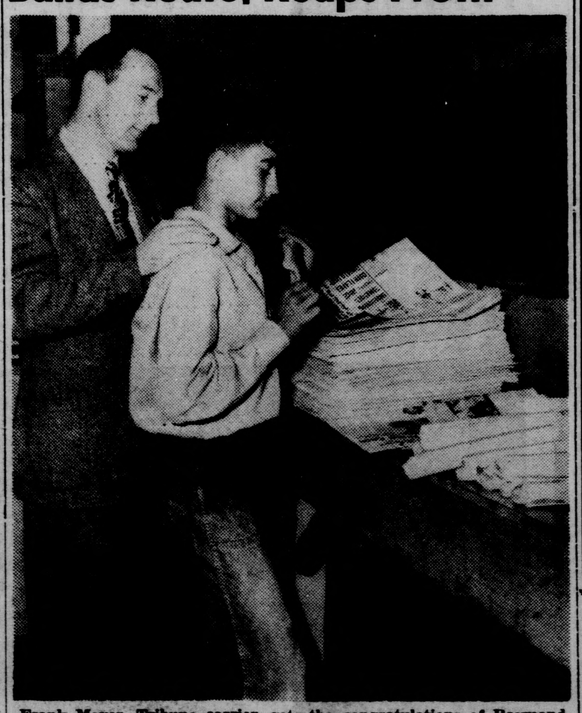
Tribune 'Little Merchant' Builds Route, Reaps Profit



Frank Moyer, Tribune carrier, gets the congratulations of Raymond Truscott, assistant circulation manager, after boosting his route by approximately 50 per cent in a space of six months. (Tribune photo)

In 10 months operating his little merchant business as a Redwood City Tribune carrier, Frank Moyer, 14, has increased his income 70 per cent and his number of customers 60 per cent.

Ray Truscott, assistant circulation manager for the Tribune, said the lad now has the largest Tribune route with 204 customers. The route extends from Douglas to 12th St. and from Dumbarton cut-off to Spring St.

Moyer handled his route without a complaint in April, and with but one complaint in May, Truscott said.

He contracted for the route in July of last year when it had 127 customers. He saw the possibility of attracting more customers in the rapidly growing area and built up his route to first place.

In his first month as a little merchant, buying his papers at a wholesale rate and retailing them to his customers, his net income, he reports, was $35. It now averages around $60.

Moyer lives at 431 9th Ave., North Fair Oaks. He is an eighth grader at McKinley School and a member of Boy Scout Troop 160.

Delegation Attending BPWC Convention At Long Beach Helps in State Plans

A delegation from the Redwood City Business and Professional Women's Club attended the state convention of the California Federation of BPW Clubs in Long Beach Saturday and Sunday.

Representing the Redwood City club were Alice Hunt, who served as an alternate to President Ruth Barrett; Thelma Eberhardt who was elected state treasurer; Lelah Butts, appointed state membership chairman; Anna Bennett Robb and Berniece Nielson, formerly of Redwood City and now of Long Beach.

Saturday nearly 1000 women attended the banquet which was held in the Municipal Auditorium. Upon the recommendation of the president, Lily R. Hawkinson, delegates voted to set up and finance permanent headquarters for the organization and hire an executive secretary. The executive board will select the headquarters location.

To represent the interests of business women in the government, the members voted to hire a paid representative to promote the BPWC program at the state legislature. Members agreed to hold meetings during the summer months because with increased membership and a yearly program, club vacations should be canceled.

Members voted to compile a list of women qualified for types of public office in an attempt to urge more women to accept government jobs. The list will be kept at the new state headquarters so that when vacancies in public office occur, competent women will be available for appointment or election.

Ethel Johnstone of San Francisco was indorsed by the state membership for the office of national third vice president of the National Federation of BPW Clubs Inc. If she is elected to this position she will be in line of succession to the national presidency of the clubs.

In the address of the national president, Miss Sally Butler of Indiana, entitled "Women in World Affairs," business women were urged to hold the same determination for peace as they did for victory.

"We might as well face it," said Miss Butler, "we women have little voice in the United Nations setup, and none in making of treaties. Yet we share the horrors and cost of war. Let us, therefore, educate and agitate until men remember that women are citizens and have a contribution to make in high place in diplomatic fields."

Miss Laura Lorraine of Sebastopol, who was elected state president Saturday, charged members with responsibility in achieving better relations between management and labor.

Groups Visit With Vera, Bring Funds

Two groups of Mexicans from across the Bay visited Community Hospital Saturday to see Vera Calderon and add their contributions to the fund started more than a week ago when it was learned Vera urgently needed streptomycin treatments.

Greeted by Dr. Harold Marks, superintendent, they gave him $58.50 for the fund and $15 for the family. Dr. Marks described them as "very gracious."

Gregorio Cardenas, spokesman for the visitors from the Commission Honorifica Mexicana of Richmond, brought $25 to the Vera Calderon fund and $15 to be given to Vera's father and five brothers.

Constantino G. Gonzales, representing the group of Mexican fellows of the Standard Oil, No. 3 District, Richmond, turned over $33.50 collected by his group.

The contributions were made possible they explained, by notices in Spanish posted at Richmond plants.

Dr. Marks wrote them a note of appreciation from the hospital.

Dr. Marks said it was still too soon to tell if the streptomycin treatments Vera receives every four hours are aiding her fight against tuberculosis peritonitis.

Money for the Vera Calderon fund will be sent to the Tribune, which was directed by the board of supervisors to collect the funds after a Tribune story called attention to the Redwood City girl's plight.

The fund, now totalling more than $700 will be turned over to Vera's father, Ascension Calderon. Streptomycin has been supplied by the county.

Precinct Canvass Slated For Hospital Bond Voting

Plans for a precinct canvass on election day, Friday, June 6, to get voters to the polls to cast ballots on the Sequoia Hospital Bond Issue were made Thursday night when 41 citizens from all parts of the district met in the city hall at Redwood City.

Vice chairmen of the citizens' committee, representing each area in the district, will seek others to help them telephone or otherwise contact each voter in the district, it was decided. The vice chairmen are Mayor J. F. Furlong, Jr., Belmont; William H. Penaat, San Carlos; Robert W. Weber, Atherton; John A. Sullivan, Menlo Park; Mrs. B. D. Ralston, Woodside; H. R. Chapin, Emerald Lake; Frank M. Shearer, North Fair Oaks; William J. Atwell, Portola; Arthur J. Compin, Friendly Acres; Mrs. Florence Donnelly, Redwood City. H. E. Holmquist is general chairman.

Further details of this phase of the campaign will be worked out next Wednesday when the citizen group meets again, this time with the hospital directors at their meeting at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

Meanwhile the vice chairmen were distributing bumper strips, window cards, lapel buttons and circulars today urging a "yes" vote on the $1,500,000 bond issue which will finance construction of a 100-bed hospital on a site already bought just west of Redwood City.

Bumper strips are available also in the city hall at Redwood City and at several service stations, including Bob Spillers and Al Brown's in Redwood City; lapel buttons are available at all drug stores in the district and more have been ordered to be delivered next week. They are also available in the chamber of commerce office in the city hall, where headquarters of the campaign committee are maintained, and at Holmquist Hardware.

Circulars describing the hospital plan and bond issue and picturing the architect's sketch and the location of the building will be mailed to every voter in the district.

Simpson asked that the aid of school children be enlisted to help eliminate the grass and brush fires which annually destroy thousands of acres of crops and menace homes.

The arrest was made by CHP officers Robert Farina and Alroy Gross after they received a radio broadcast of a car believed used in the attempted holdup of the Union Oil Co. filling station, El Camino Real and San Mateo Ave., San Bruno.

Birthday Celebration Shared Three Ways at Party Given by the Kellums

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kellum of Albion Rd., Woodside, were hosts at a joint birthday party Thursday evening at their home.

Celebrating at a three-way party were Mrs. Sarah Gragg and Mr. Fred Eilerman of Woodside and Mrs. J. O. Strahl of San Jose, a huge birthday cake, bearing in its decoration "Happy Birthday to Sarah, Cecil and Fred," carried no sign of the usual candles nor did the celebrants reveal any ages.

An evening of games and cards was enjoyed and the Double H Boys, nephews of Mr. and Mrs. Kellum, provided songs and music for the evening.

Guests present included Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Emmett, Mr. and Mrs. Eilerman, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Smith of Palo Alto, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Fuqua of Redwood City, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Chittenden, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Day of Oakland, Mr. and Mrs. Strahl of San Jose, Mr. and Mrs. Chet Koontz and children, Nancy and Billy, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roudebush and son, Donald; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Aten, Mr. and Mrs. Henry David, Sharon and Vivian Aten, Louis Wisdom, Ray Volkey of Redwood City, Joan Lawrence, Bettie and Earl Lawrence, Harold Gragg, Gregory Eilerman, Mrs. Gragg, Harold Cunha, Frank Roudebush and Henry Gragg.

7½ Cent Wage Increase Granted County Laundry Workers Union

A new wage agreement covering laundry workers employed in the leading laundries of San Mateo County was concluded Monday, according to Harold R. Wood, president of the San Mateo County Laundryowner's Assn.

A new contract calls for a 7½-cent "across the board" hourly increase to all laundry workers, effective May 26. In addition, on July 21, a further 2½-cent increase will be given.

"Future increases during the contract year will be based on the cost of living formula," Wood said. "We agreed to take a look at what has happened to the cost of living in November and then grant automatic increases equal to the percentage increase in living costs between May 15 and Oct. 15 of this year." "All told," Wood said, "it means a 10-cent hourly increase to the workers within the next 60 days and a possible increase in November depending upon what happens to spiraling living costs."

Other fringe issues, settled during the negotiations, gave to the workers a guaranteed 52-hour work week and two additional paid holidays. Other minor changes were made in the contract.

"The increase in hourly wages, the guaranteed work week, and additional paid holidays, all add up to a severe increase in our productive labor costs," Wood stated. "It means that laundry prices to the public in San Mateo County will have to be raised," he said.

Wood pointed out that at this time it is impossible to forecast the amount of the price increase, but that auditors for members of the association will undertake a survey immediately of each member plant in San Mateo County to determine what portion of the increased costs can be absorbed by the employers and the amount which will have to be passed on to the buying public.
